THE DISCUSSION CLUB

Charles Murray
11 January 2009

Charles Murray is a political scientist, author, and columnist. He is one of the most thoughtful and controversial intellectuals of our time. He is currently fellow and W.H. Brady Scholar at the American Enterprise Institute. He has been a frequent witness before congressional committees and consultant to senior government officials of the US, the UK, Eastern Europe, and the OECD. He was named by the National Journal as one of the 50 people who make a difference in national policymaking.

He first came to national attention in 1984 with the publication of Losing Ground: American Social Policy 1950-1980. He is best known for his book, The Bell Curve (with Richard J. Herrnstein, 1994), which discusses the role of IQ plays in explaining social phenomena. His latest book is Real Education: Four Simple Truths for Bringing America's Schools Back to Reality. He received his B.A. in History from Harvard University and his Ph.D. in Political Science from MIT.

Title: "Rethinking Education from First Principles?"